

WOULD BAR VOTE OF NONPARTISANS

Blood-Curdling Oath Required of All Who Renounce Socialism

ENGINEERING A COUP

Nonpartisan Leaguers of Oklahoma Are Angered by Alleged Illegal Action

Special to The World.
OKLAHOMA CITY, April 18.—In an effort to head off what the democratic machine politicians fear is threatening their control of the party by reports that thousands of voters, mostly socialists, are changing their registrations to democratic, the most remarkable document in the history of Oklahoma politics has been issued Monday and Tuesday. The document consists of a printed blank requiring all persons who desire to change registration to make affidavit that they will forever support all the nominees of the democratic party. This blank is placed before the applicant, and if he refuses to sign his application is refused.

Leaders of the farmer labor league visited the office of the state election board under receipt of a copy of the blank which was being used in Choctaw county, and demanded that its discontinuance be ordered by the board, as being a clear violation of the election law and an attempt to coerce and intimidate voters. Secretary McAlister said he had not authorized the blank, although the Choctaw county officials to Choctaw county do not intend to permit the re-registration of socialists as democrats which might result in the nomination of a ticket of "illiterates."

May Change Registration.
The state law provides that any voter may change his party registration provided he appear before the precinct registrar at least 90 days before the general primary and have his registration certificate canceled. Then, during the July registration period, which this year occurs July 11 to 21, he can present his canceled certificate to the precinct registrar and secure a new certificate with the changed party affiliation.

It is said that many thousands of voters have been changing their party connection during the past few weeks, most of them former socialists, who are having their certificates canceled with the expectation of registering as democrats in July and participating in the primary as well as in order to have a voice in nominating the state ticket. This movement began shortly after the Shawnee meeting, at which an endorsement was made of a candidate for every state office to be voted for, and has gained such magnitude as to seriously threaten the present party leadership.

Engineering Coup.
It was to prevent loss of control that the democratic leaders engineered this coup, which is said to be already operating in the four counties of Seminole, Coal, Atoka and Choctaw. The plan is to have a governor endorsed by the farmer labor group in Mayor Jack Walton of Oklahoma City, who is now admittedly in the lead for the nomination and whose name is anathema to the present democratic leadership in the state. With several candidates in the field, a few thousand, possibly a few hundred, might change the result in the primary.

No oath is required by law of any applicant who may appear for change in his registration. The blank form of oath prepared by the election officials is, however, one of the most blood-curdling that could be devised, and is well calculated to frighten any person not familiar with his rights. When the applicant appears before the registrar to have his certificate canceled preparatory to the change, the formidable looking blank is thrust under his eyes and he is requested to sign the following:

"You are hereby notified that I (blank) desire to change the registration of my politics (blank) to that of democrat and hereby request that you cancel my registration certificate in order that I may be in position to register as a democrat when the registration period opens during the year 1923, before the primary election."

"In support of same I hereby make solemn and binding oath that the principles of the party which I have heretofore affiliated with are wrong and that the principles of the party which I desire to affiliate with are based upon sound, sane and economic principles, and I hereby renounce the principles of the party which I had formerly adhered to."

"I further state on oath that my desire to change my politics is in good faith and not for the purpose of voting for any particular candidate or set of candidates, but to become a bona fide member of said party."

"I furthermore swear in the name of God that at the next general election, and succeeding elections I will support all the nominees of the democratic party without any mental reservation whatsoever, so help me, God."

Vote for Straight Witnesses.
After the applicant has signed this remarkable document, he is required to bring two witnesses who will swear that they believe he has had a political change of heart. These two witnesses must be democrats who have voted the ticket straight for "many years" and "especially in 1920." This last provision outlaws all the democrats who did not vote the ticket straight in 1920, and reduces the party to 30,000 minority in the state without any change in registration.

The farmer labor movement declares that they will take legal steps to protect their rights under the law, and it is expected that that definite plan to combat the machine will be formulated within two or three days. The ninety day date, after which certificates cannot be canceled for the purpose of changing politics, is May 2.

No Attempt at Secrecy.
"Probably the Germans thought the allies were trying to make a secret agreement with the soviet," said a British delegate today to The Associated Press, "but nothing was further from our thoughts. We were merely trying to expedite the work of the conference especially seeking by all possible honorable means to make the Genoa conference a success. England, like every sane nation of the world today, knows something helpful must emerge from Genoa. As the preliminary conversations with the soviet particularly concerned Europe, the Japanese were not present but they were kept informed concerning developments. They participated in yesterday's reunion of the allied leaders and now that the situation has assumed a broad international aspect by virtue of separate action on the part of Germany, Japan, as well as the members of the little entente, will sit with the allies and give their counsel."

Dr. Walter Rathenau, the German foreign minister, in a statement to The Associated Press protested against the exclusion of Germany as unfair. He declared the treaty was not a secret one and not a violation of the conditions upon which Germany had entered the conference. He had not yet decided upon his attitude, he said.

PARIS, April 18.—A high official of the government declared this afternoon there was no possibility of continuing the discussions at Genoa unless the Russo-German treaty was canceled. Even if it were annulled, he declared, the moral effect would remain of two of the parties to the Genoa conference maneuvering on the side to forestall the conference's work.

PARIS, April 18.—After a two-hour meeting of the cabinet today official announcement was made that the French delegation to the Genoa conference will not be recalled immediately as a result of the Russo-German treaty being signed. It was decided, the announcement stated, that an opportunity will be given to the allied statesmen at Genoa to act jointly with regard to the action of the Germans and Russians.

It was said the majority of the cabinet decided that it would be dangerous for France to take action that might break up the Genoa conference abruptly. Such action, it was said, might prove harmful to France, in that it would result in isolation.

LONG-STANDING FEUD IS BEHIND WETUMKA FRAY

fact that more men than usual were in the rear end of the garage.
Automobile Riddled.
The automobile was fairly riddled with bullets. One man said he detected holes of four different sizes, the smallest apparently made by a 25 caliber automatic and the largest by a .45 caliber revolver.

That Rogers killed Wilkerson is the prevalent opinion. The powder burns on the back of Wilkerson's neck and the hole burned in his hat indicate the revolver from which the fatal shot was fired was pressed close to his body.

Darke's escape is considered nothing less than miraculous, when the bullets started to fly. The justice of the peace, who occupied the rear seat with Wilkerson, quickly slumped to the bottom of the car. He had no sooner laid down when Wilkerson's lifeless body toppled down on him. It is perhaps this shield that saved his life.

As Sharp started to drive away a bullet entered his right arm breaking one of the forearm bones. In spite of this handicap he drove the car two blocks and out of the range of flying bullets. Sharp lost one leg several years ago.

At this point in the conversation Sharp was obtained to drive them in Darke's car around to the garage and later to take them home.

Go to Garage.
Arriving at the garage Darke descended from the car and with a search light started to hunt for the lost papers. He held a shotgun in one hand and the light in the other. While the car was standing there, Hughey Rogers, town marshal, former deputy sheriff, at one time a W. C. U. organizer and well known as a gunman, came alongside in company with Greene Lewis and L. Penrod, the latter a night watchman. Darke had in the meantime recovered the lost papers and as the lawless leaders quickly and effectively.

Wilkerson Shot to Death.
Stories conflict as to who fired the first shot. It has been ascertained, however, that Wilkerson was shot from behind and that Rogers was the only one directly behind him. A .45 caliber bullet entered the back of his neck, passing through his head and stopping just under the skin over his right eye. He was shot in three other places, one of the bullets taking effect also in his neck and two barely penetrating the skin on his hips. The first shot caused his death.

Those stories which charge the firing of the first shot on Darke or Wilkerson are not borne out by fact as the shotgun carried by Darke and an automatic pistol in Wilkerson's possession were examined afterward and it was found neither had been discharged.

Rogers Lewis and Penrod carried .45 caliber revolvers each capable of holding five cartridges, yet 23 bullet holes were found in the car driven by Sharp and in the brick wall of a vacant bank building directly across the street from the garage, and in Wilkerson's body. One of these bullets broke the glass in the bank building door and ricocheted across the room. An examination according to reliable reports showed it was fired from a 30-30 Winchester rifle.

Citizens of Wetumka are reluctant to discuss intimate details of Saturday night's bloody affair but by questioning a number of them and piecing together their stories, it is evident that the factional strife here has been swirling like an undercurrent for many years, dating back to a time before the revival of the K. K. K.

Only a lone faction, is led by Nat Williams and Tom Ryan, the former being mayor of this town. It is alleged that these two men virtually control the local Klan organization which has only a small membership and which has apparently been recruited under their directions and selection.

Faction Opposed Klan.
Heading the other faction were Darke and Wilkerson, apparently the unopposed animosity separating these two divisions has bred violent hatred between the opposing leaders.

Wilkerson especially has always been in disfavor by the Williams-Ryan faction. Both of these leaders have been overheard to bitterly revile him. They have on several occasions stated he is the only man they feared.

Wilkerson was known as a man without fear. A few years ago when a W. C. U. organizer and well known as a gunman, came alongside in company with Greene Lewis and L. Penrod, the latter a night watchman. Darke had in the meantime recovered the lost papers and as the lawless leaders quickly and effectively.

Rogers had for many years harbored enmity toward Wilkerson. Whether Rogers saw and took advantage of an opportunity to put Wilkerson out of the way can only be conjectured. It is evident, however, that Wilkerson was not given a chance to defend himself when he was shot and killed from behind. It is also a matter of conjecture whether any untoward circumstances would have happened Saturday night if Rogers had not appeared near the car in which Wilkerson was sitting.

Why Darke and Sharp were arrested by Sheriff Sam E. Turner and Rogers was not taken into custody has not yet been explained. It could not be ascertained today whether the sheriff is in league with Williams and Ryan. Darke and Sharp have been released on bond. It is understood Rogers will maintain in court that the first shot was fired from the car and that his companions in the affair will substantiate his statements.

Sharp is a brother-in-law of State Senator Luther Harrison of Holdenville, formerly of Wetumka, who is also publisher of the Holdenville Democrat.
